Qualifications

The Competition is opened to all interested Hālau, Hula groups and Independent dancers for the Solo's.

Each competing hālau in the GROUP division must have a minimum of 3 dancers up to a maximum of 20 dancers per group.

In order for a category to proceed in the competition, there must be at least 2 entries. If there is only 1 entry that hālau/solo will be allowed to perform as an exhibition and be judged in the same way so that our expert judges can critique them.

Judges will consist of guest Kumu Hulas who have experience in hula, both kahiko and 'auana and who have experience with competitions. They will be unbiased and will judge fairly and accurately as they see fit. They will make comments and suggestions to help kumu and haumāna to strengthen the hula.

SCORING

The scoring system will be based on a scale from 1-10, with 1 being POOR and 10 being EXCELLENT.

The judges will score based on the following criteria:

FACT SHEET

Judges will read through Fact Sheets and Score based on information provided by Kumu Hula. A thorough Fact Sheet includes detailed information as to why the mele, ka'i, ho'i, costume, and adornments were selected. The Fact Sheet is also thorough and COMPLETED with MELE Lyrics, Composer Name, and translations are provided.

HULA

Ka'i & Ho'i: Judges will score the ENTRANCE (Ka'i) and EXIT (Ho'i) based on the interpretation of the song selected and how it relates or ties into the MELE that the halau is performing for their main entry.

Interpretation: Judges will score the interpretation of the main MELE based on the motions being danced that matches the translations provided. They could also use their own mana'o to the mele and compare their motions or their thoughts on how the motions should be.

Precision: Judges will score on how precise the movement of the whole halau. The following is what will be looked at; head, arm, and leg placements, smooth transitions, and overall movement of all haumāna. For the SOLOIST the judges will look at the precision and flow of motions and movement on the stage.

Expressions: Judges will score on the expression of the overall halau or of the soloist. This will be based on what the haumāna are portraying by looking at their facial expressions. Are the haumāna expressing the emotions of the mele, or are they just smiling to simply get through the dance?

Creativity: Judges will score on how creative the performance was. From the entrance to the exit including all formations if they are included will be based on the creativity score. The creativity score could also come from the choreography of the hula itself as well. Hula performance is the focus and therefore should be the main subject on stage. Breach of this could result in point deductions.

APPEARANCE

Costumes: Judges will score the costumes based on the cleanliness, neatness and appropriateness as in how it relates to the mele taking into account the explanation on the Fact Sheets. Adornments: Judges will score the adornments based on choice of adornments in relation to the mele being performed. They will also be scored on cleanliness and how they are placed on the haumāna.

OVERALL

The judges will score the OVERALL performance from start to end based on a 1-100 Scale. This score will reflect the judges OVERALL opinion on the whole performance performed by the halau. The halau with the highest OVERALL score will receive the "Overall Halau Winner" award.

OLI (Chanting of the Ho'opa'a in group and Chanting of Soloist in Solo Oli) The judges will judge the haumāna based on the OLI they present. Pronunciation, expression, and presentation of the OLI will be judged.

COMMENTS

Judges will comment what they feel needs commenting. They will give constructive criticism, which includes suggestions for improvements.

If there is a score lower than a five (5) the judges will give their reason as to why they scored it that way.

Comments and Suggestions are to help strengthen the Kumu Hula/Instructors and the Hālau as well.

Prizes

There will be prizes awarded in each category for each division for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd places. West Valley Island Cultural Festival has the discretion to select the prizes to be given away.
